MEMORIAL POEM
TO C. L. SALLEE

O, God, who doeth all things well,
We still can trust in Thee,
Thou knowest more than heart can tell
Of joys that ceased, of hopes that fell,
Of hearts that broke when came the knell—
His life has ceased to be.

O, many are the tears that fell,
But they have fallen in vain.
O, poor heart-broken Church! We all
So loved and trusted him! How small
And lost we feel! We cannot call
Him back again.

How blank will seem his empty seat!
But it will speak to me,
'Twill speak of truth and counsel sweet;
'Twill speak of hope and lands where meet
The friends here sundered—where they greet
For aye across the sea.

Lord, thou canst dry the tear-dimmed eye
And soothe the heart that's sore.
O, give us wings of hope to fly
To Him for comfort—Him on high,
Who said: "In ye ye shall not die,
But live forever more."

Long silent hours at eventide,
We still will watch and wait,
But not his coming—we must bide
Our time. O, make the years to glide
Until we yet stand side by side
Within the Eternal Gate.

Sam Matthews' Ghost

How It Warned Captain Ezra

It was a cold night. The wind was blowing a gale and driving a fine snow which cut the face and blinded the pedestrian. The vessels tied up at T wharf looked bleak and cheerless; but they were very comfortable under hatches. In the cabin of the schooner Emily Parsons a brisk fire was burning in the round stove, and the odor of tobacco so appetizing to those who like it scented the air. Capt. Ezra Parsons, in a comfortable chair, with his feet upon the stove fender, was pulling upon a villainous looking pipe, while reclining upon one of the bunks which lined the cabin was Seth Jenkins, and half a dozen members of the crew were distributed about the little room.

"Kind o' snug here," said Seth Jenkins with a grunt of content. "Just the same I wouldn't like to be outside the bay in this."

"The Emily is as safe as a church in any kind of weather," said Capt. Ezra. "Course she gets a little wet now and then, but you expect that. I wouldn't change her for the White House, no sir."

"Well," said Seth, "taint likely that Roosevelt'll ask yer to swap. I don't like these wet ships myself."

"You don't?" sneered Capt. Ezra. "Well, I don't see you ownin' or commandin' any dry ones or wet ones either. Just pass that bottle this way."

"I don't know if I ought to let you have it," hesitated Seth. "Spirits ain't good for a man with your hot temper. First thing you know you'll be seein' things, snakes and green bugs and maybe ha'n'ts."

Ezra acquired the bottle and poured himself a liberal drink.

"I saw a ghost, once," said Capt. Ezra.

There was a sensation. Several of the boys sat up in their berths, and the Nova Scotia man jumped out upon the deck. Only Seth laughed.

"I knew you'd be seein' things if you took another drink," he said. "Tell us about it, cap," said the Nova Scotian.

"Taint much of a story," said Ezra, "but it happened, all right. Any o' you boys remember Sam Matthews? Well, he was an old dory mate o' mine, and one o' the whitest lads that ever breathed. We sailed under Capt. Duncan McGann in the schooner Cheyenne, one of the fastest boats out o' Gloucester 15 years ago.

"Sam and me had some fine times together and some tough ones; but the last was one January day. We set out from the ship in the mornin' with not a drop to drink or bite to eat in the dory. We set our trawls and tended them till about noon, when fog came on and we started for the ship. She was gone and we couldn't find her. We was 50 miles from shore with wind and tide against us and it was bitter cold. Sam wasn't easily scared, but he sez to me: 'I guess it's all day with us, Ezra,' and I couldn't see much chance for us. But we started to row ashore, and we rowed until our hands was blistered terrible, and the salt water would get into the blisters.

The first day we couldn't ha' made 20 miles. That night it come on to blow and we shipped so much water that our clothes froze on us. That day we couldn't ha' gone ten miles and we wasn't sure we were goin' right. We both was so weak we couldn't hardly keep at the work, but somehow we was able to live till mornin'. Then Same give in and lay down in the bot tom and I couldn't get him up. 'Taint no use, mate,' he said, 'we've got to go.' In a little while he died. Not an hour after we was picked up. I got well, but I lose a toe from frostbite I never forgot Sam, and always kep' thinkin' if he only could ha' held on an hour more.

"A little later I bought the Emily Parsons and took her out. I guess I was five years after that I was on Brown's bank gettin' fish, and started for home. There came on a thick fog and a heavy sea, and I had to go b. reckonin', but I knew the place pretty well and I thought I was goin' right. I remember it just as plain as can be I was at the wheel, Joe Willis was forward as lookout, everybody else was below. It was just about mid night. All of a sudden I seen a m. standin' alongside o' me in ol' skinn' drippin' with wet. He looked up and it was Sam Matthews.

"I was so scared I could hardly hold the wheel, and I could only look at him. His face was terrible pale, just as he looked when he died.

"Ezra, old friend, he sez to me 'Do you know where you're goin'? You're goin' straight for Cape Sable, an' you'll be on the beach in five minutes. Get your anchors out.' Then he seemed to kind o' fade away and I was alone. I let out a yell that brought the whole crew up, an' I got them anchors out in a jiffy. But we dragged and dragged, and it seemed hours before they held. The men thought I was crazy; but I wouldn't tell them nothin', but went down and drank near a quart of whisky. The next mornin' when the fog lifted I could ha' tossed a biscuit on shore."

There was a silence for fully a minute. Then the Nova Scotian asked: "Are you sure you wasn't asleep?" "The rocks was right alongside," said the captain.

Seth Jenkins didn't say anything at all.

Beautiful winter weather.

Mrs. Mary Bradley of East Second, who fell a few days ago and nearly dislocated her left wrist, is getting along as well as could be expected.

Yesterday at Denver, Colo., Father Leo Heinrichs was shot and killed when administering the sacrament at early mass in St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church at 6 o'clock in the morning. Kneeling at the altar rail between two women, Giuseppe Guarnaceto pressed the muzzle of a revolver against the body of the priest, after receiving from him the consecrated wafer, and shot the priest through the heart. Exclaiming "My God, my God!" Father Leo fell prone in front of the altar and died without uttering another word.

GREWSOME PRACTICAL JOKE

Of the Hair Raising Variety—Fake Drowning Off Limestone Bridge

As a sequel to the finding of a dummy floater in the backwater near the C. and O. bridge Saturday morning the following story is told.

Two well known young men of this city who were out for sport, concocted a suicide scheme—that is, a make believe one. They secured a dummy that once did service for a certain clothier in Second street, and when the somber mantle of night had lowered o'er the city they wended their way and took position on the C. and O. bridge that spans historic Limestone creek.

When the trend of travel was in the direction of Princess Rink the grim act was pulled off in grand shape and with good effect.

A quartette, two ladies and two gentlemen, were leisurely approaching the foot path over the city bridge when their attention was attracted by a colloquial taking place between three persons, the silhouette of whose figures were discernable in the murky flowing waters.

One was heard to say—

"For God's sake, don't."

Then came a wail-like cry—

"I will, good-bye!"

At the same instant a form leaped from the bridge, a splash in the water, and all was over. The two companions ran up the railroad track and disappeared in the darkness of night.

There was consternation and horror among the rink goers who were unwilling witnesses to the tragedy. One of the young ladies fainted and another received such a nervous shock that her hair will turn gray, while the gallant escorts were petrified with fear in their tracks for a few minutes.

Three deaths have resulted from the spotted fever epidemic at Berea. All victims were students of Berea College. Over 100 students have left the college.

HOW A COLD IN THE HEAD AND NASAL CATARRH CAN BE CURED

Paracamp Is Daily Demonstrating Its Marvelous Curative Properties.

At this time of the year, Cold In The Head and Nasal Catarrh are most prevalent. Many users of Paracamp are not aware that it will relieve and cure these ailments.

Don't dose your stomach with powerful drugs which always leave a bad after-effect and in a great many instances do serious harm, but try Paracamp. You will be agreeably surprised at the results. Take a small quantity on the end of the finger, put it well into the nostril and sniff hard, so as to get the remedy up into the channels of the nose and until it runs back into the throat. Do this until the channels of the nose are opened; then rub the outside of the nose and forehead thoroughly applying Paracamp freely, as this will stimulate the circulation, remove congestion, open the pores and draw out the fever and inflammation by inducing sweating.

When Paracamp is used in this manner, it goes immediately to the diseased and inflamed membranes, cooling, soothing and healing the same. It also kills the disease germs.

The principle of Paracamp is direct contact. It opens the pores of the skin, one of the mediums through which the body throws off its impurities, permitting the soothing, healing oils to penetrate direct to the interior cells, and removing all soreness, fever and inflammation by inducing perspiration.

This treatment should be repeated several times and always upon arising in the morning and at night before retiring. After a thorough trial, if you are not perfectly satisfied with the results, go to your druggist and he will give you your money back.

Paracamp has relieved many sufferers, and will cure without harming. It does not act as many other remedies do, deaden the nerves; but stimulates them so they may perform their natural functions.

Paracamp is sold and recommended by J. Jas. Wood & Son, Druggists.

"The Saviors of Kentucky."

Editor Public Ledger—Dear Sir: In THE LEDGER of Friday, 21st, you printed a squib from The Courier-Journal and approved it with the heading "The Saviors of Kentucky!" That squib runs thus: "There are people in this state, a good many of whom are in the General Assembly, who seem to think that the most important duty of that body is to enact legislation looking to the prevention of a man taking a drink in Kentucky. * * *

"According to these philanthropists and statesmen, it is more essential that a man's neighbors shall have the power to forbid him drinking a glass of beer, wine or whisky, or even using any of them as medicine, than it is that his person and property shall be protected from bullets and torches of marauding mobs."

In the same issue and editorial column, you say: "Some strange things eventuate in old Breathitt, and ignorance and whisky are at the bottom of all the trouble." What is true in "Old Breathitt" is true in Maysville, and all over this State, as every observant man knows, and every candid, unprejudiced man will admit. Then why that fling at the "people in this State, a good many of whom are in the General Assembly" (thank God) who are interested in removing that which is at the bottom of all the trouble, according to your own statement, "ignorance and whisky?" "Oh, consistency! thou art a jewel."

Personal

Mr. P. L. Dimmitt of Millersburg was here Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Mary Colvin, who has been attending school at Midway, on account of ill health, returned home Saturday.

I need not deny the assertions that the people referred to are "seeking legislation to prevent a man taking a drink in Kentucky" &c. Every person having intelligence enough to take care of himself knows that those statements are not true. And many of us have reason to believe that not "ignorance," but prejudice and whisky, or whisky money, are at the bottom of those flings. The question with the people referred to, is not whether a man shall take a drink in Kentucky, if he needs it, but whether he shall take it in a barroom in Kentucky. "Ignorance and whisky" being at the bottom of nine-tenths of all our trouble, "The Saviors of Kentucky" are seeking to remove the cause of the trouble, and so get rid of the trouble. The way to that blessed end—the salvation of Kentucky—is better educational facilities, and the removal of the barrooms, which dispense whisky to the ignorant and incite them to sin and crime. As to which is more essential, to seek to protect a man's soul and mind from the curse of whisky and his home, and society from his crimes, or to seek to protect his body from bullets and his property from the torches of marauding mobs—(mobs which are, often if not usually, driven on by ignorance and whisky?)—I leave an intelligent Christian public to decide. Yours for the salvation of Kentucky.

P. A. CAVE.

Mr. William Thomas of Marietta, Ohio, formerly of this city, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Grant of West Third street.

Mr. James Coffee went to Lexington Saturday to meet and accompany Miss Mary Colvin home, who is in bad health. Miss Colvin is the adopted daughter of Mrs. Lizzie Coffee of Jersey Ridge.

AFTER GRIPPE

Convalescents Need Strength.

The gripe is one of the most weakening, diseases known.

Mrs. G. I. Partridge of Franklin, Mass., says: "A severe attack of the gripe left me in a very weakened condition, no appetite, thin, nervous, and no vitality. A friend brought me a bottle of Vinol. It gave me a hearty appetite, and my health and strength returned until I felt like a new creature. I consider Vinol a wonderful medicine—it makes strength and vitality so fast."

We want to say to the people of Maysville that after gripe or any severe sickness, convalescents need strength, and we have never sold in our store a more satisfactory strength creator and health restorer than our delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol.

This is because Vinol is made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate of iron all the medicinal, healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

We ask the convalescent, the weak, aged and run-down people of Maysville to try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails to give satisfaction.

Handbills offering inducements to tobacco growers to move to Ohio were distributed at Lexington. Those who accept the offer are promised assistance and are assured of land on which to plant.

The Kentucky Legislature reconvenes today, and some progress is expected for most important measures before it. The county unit bill and the McChord tobacco bill will still retard the work of the session.

It is said that Governor Wilson has given the temperance forces assurance that unless the county unit bill becomes a law at this session of the Legislature he will call an extra session and will specify in his call that the county unit measure is to be one of the subjects considered.

CURED TO STAY CURED.

How a Maysville Citizen Found Complete Freedom From Kidney Troubles.

If you suffer from backache—From urinary disorders—From any disease of the kidneys, Be cured to stay cured. Doan's Kidney Pills make lasting cures. Maysville people testify. Here's one case of it.

A. W. McClanahan of A. W. and B. P. McClanahan, grocers, at 121 Second street, Maysville, Ky., says:

"I can endorse Doan's Kidney Pills more heartily today than I did five years ago when I told the Maysville people that this medicine had cured me of severe kidney trouble and backache that had bothered me for twenty years and seemed to be growing worse and worse all the time. I repeat that I can more confidently recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstore, today than I did in my former testimonial because my cure has been permanent and I have had no kidney trouble for nearly five years. As proof that I am a firm believer in Doan's Kidney Pills I will be only too pleased to reiterate the above to any one who may inquire."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box; Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

UNION LEAGUE

Of Christian Endeavors—President Richardson's Hopeful Address

The mass meeting at the First Presbyterian Church Friday evening under the auspices of the Union League of Christian Endeavors was well attended. A great many Endeavor workers from the county were present.

President J. Harry Richardson presided with his usual dignity. In his opening address he declared that the work which the Union was doing justified its existence.

Mr. William Thaw of Boston, General Secretary of the International Society of Christian Endeavors, delivered a highly interesting address. He spoke of the remarkable progress which the Endeavor movement has made in the last thirty years. He discussed the prison work briefly. He mentioned some Endeavor Societies in Samoan Islands and elsewhere and called attention to their devotion and enthusiasm.

He gave some very valuable suggestions on Church and Endeavor work.

The young people will do well to catch some of the enthusiasm of this mighty man.

The program was interspersed with the singing of the State Endeavor song to the tune of "My Old Kentucky Home" by the congregation and the singing of special selections by Mr. Waggett, Mrs. Baldwin and Mrs. Cummings. Miss Stella Archdeacon presided at the organ.

After the regular program a reception was held in honor of Mr. Shaw. Everybody had good time in handshaking and piano solos by Miss Elizabeth V.

MASON COUNTY

The Political Battle Ground in Senatorial Contest. Eyes of Entire State Focused Here

Former Governors May Both Stump the County and Liveliest Scrimmage in Years Will Result

That the contest between the Republicans and the Democrats to elect a successor of the late Representative McKnight in Mason county, is going to be spirited from now on until the election day, March 7th, is plainly in evidence.

The Bradley forces and the Beckham machine are both laying the wires and arranging the line of battle for a contest of the most determined description and tomorrow the political fur will begin to fly.

The mastering issues of the period in Kentucky are the County Unit Temperance bill and the Equity Tobacco question, and no man can at this time pick a Bradley man or a Beckham man as the ultimate winner.

SPECIAL REGISTRATION SATURDAY Sheriff Mackey, Saturday posted notices throughout the county notifying the voters of the election and in addition the Sheriff ordered a special registration to be held next Saturday, February 29, one week before the election in order that every qualified voter in the county may participate in the election.

Tomorrow the battle really begins when both parties will select a candidate for Representative.

Chairman W. D. Cochran has issued the call for the Republicans to meet tomorrow at the Court house to nominate the Republican candidate, and at the same time the Democrats have been called to meet by Secretary Gordon Sulser of the County Democratic Committee.

The nomination of both party candidates has practically been agreed upon, but the selections have not been given out for publication.

It is said that Chairman Cochran may be the Republican nominee himself, but the names of Mr. Shelby Blatterman, Mr. E. T. Kirk and Major M. C. Hutchins and others are also prominently mentioned.

For the Democrats, Mr. S. A. Shaublin, president of the Mason County Board of Control of the Equity Society, and Squire W. H. Rice may either consent to make the race. Judge Garrett S. Wall is also prominently mentioned.

The Courier-Journal's staff correspondent, Mr. O. M. Wasson, is here to remain during the campaign and is keeping the readers of that paper posted with the latest news concerning the warm Mason county contest. In yesterday's Courier-Journal, Mr. Wasson says in his despatch from Maysville—

EQUITY AND ANTI-BECKHAM.

"While the tobacco question will likely cut the biggest figure in the election, the anti-Beckham sentiment is strongly to be reckoned with, and if the Republicans nominate an Equity man he would poll almost the solid vote of the city, irrespective of politics, while if the Democratic nominee is in favor of Beckham the Republican candidate will get a majority of the votes of the anti-Beckham Democrats in the county. Both sides are claiming the election by a substantial majority, the Republicans basing their claims on the election of last fall, when McKnight was elected by a majority of less than one hundred, while the Democrats say that the election was fair criterion because of the surprise all over the State of the Republican State ticket, they claim the Democratic nomination will carry the special election by the normal majority of the county."

"The claim of the Republicans is also based on the upheaval in the county last fall, which they say was due to the tactics of Beckham and some of his leaders, and as Beckhamism is to be one of the issues in the campaign during the next two weeks they believe those opposed to the former Governor will once more repudiate him at the polls."
